Taj Mahal Atlantic City
CASINO
1988 - 2009

The Trump Taj Mahal, which has been shuttered since last fall, will undergo an "all-encompassing" transformation this year, to become the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino Atlantic City.

Key elements:

- Hard Rock International will spend $400 million rebranding and renovating the Hard Rock Hotel and Casino Atlantic City. The property had been owned by billionaire Carl Icahn.
- The new hotel will feature two separate arenas for concerts and sporting events, seating 7,000 people.
- Changes will include a redesigned interior and casino, along with new food and beverage outlets. The Hard Rock Cafe Atlantic City will be centrally located within the property and offer beach access.
- The hotel's entrance will be completely reimagined with a new port cochère located on the famous Boardwalk.
- The lobby and guest rooms will undergo renovations, and meeting space will be updated. The crowning touch, a full-service spa, will feature relaxing and recharging treatments. In keeping with Hard Rock's theme, the hotel will showcase rock-and-roll memorabilia, but in this case it will be hand-picked with a focus on musicians from New Jersey.
